Dear Eva - I hope you are well.

While there has been some progress in the various discussion rounds in Brussels - for example as regards [REDACTED] - we still worry that the provisions on side-loading will have a negative impact on consumer protection and cyber security.

I would therefore greatly appreciate an opportunity for another call with you to set out our specific security concerns. We hope that the European Council in Brussels this month will serve to address the security aspect very clearly.

Please find attached a paper setting out Apple's approach to security on iPhone to underline our concerns around side-loading. Hereunder you also find a short summary.

Would you be available next week for a phone call? Please feel free to propose suitable time slots.

With kind regards,
Maija
